

Just getting started
a JCB removes
the top soil before archaeologists
move in.

1 metre below
the ground surface
and 2,000 years
into the past
archaeologists
starting to uncover
the stone fort
from the Roman occupation at Carlisle.

Removing a stone
column base which was part of the colonnaded portico in front of the HQ building of the stone fort.

Carlisle ROMAN DIG