

A timber-lined drain from a barrack block which housed both soldiers and their horses.

The wooden pipe and junction-box in close up.

Part of a wooden water pipe and junction-box, and a timber-lined drain running alongside the main north-south street of the fort.

Carlisle ROMAN DIG